4. Dividend

A. Stocks and ETFs Dividend

INGOT Global Ltd distributes dividend for stocks and ETFs after imposing fees and taxes. Dividends are distributed under the conditions below:

i. For Long Positions:

The Client must hold the stock or the ETF for three days before the EX-dividend date to obtain the dividend after tax and fees are imposed on the stock and ETF, as stated below:

- If the Client holds a long position of a Stock or ETF (“buy a Stock or ETF”), he/she will only receive the dividend amount less the withholding tax amount (withholding tax amount will be calculated as per the applicable relevant laws and regulations).

ii. For Short Positions:

If the Client holds a short position of a Stock or ETF (“sell a Stock or ETF”), his/her trading account will be deducted an amount equals the dividend amount plus the withholding tax amount (withholding tax amount will be calculated as per the applicable relevant laws and regulations).

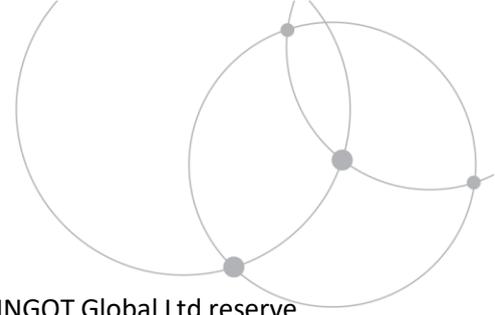

INGOT Global Ltd withdraws the dividend after deducting the taxes and fees for positions that were not closed before the end of the last trading session from EX dividend date of the relevant exchange, so if the Client closes the deal before the end of the last trading session, which is, before the EX dividend due date, the dividends will not be withdrawn.
